

Get your message across - Make a Placard!

DIY's current show, 'Following Patient 36', looks at Learning Disability History. Part of the research has been looking at placards at the Working Class Movement Library www.wcml.org.uk

Placards are a good way to put a message across about something we think is important. They are often used by people who are protesting or campaigning for change.

What is important to you? What will you put on your placard?

There's a template on the next page for you to use.
