

Design a Badge!

DIY's current show, 'Following Patient 36', looks at Learning Disability History. Part of the research has been looking at badges at the Working Class Movement Library www.wcml.org.uk

We found this jacket covered in badges!
It's from the Miners Strike in 1984.

DIY members were inspired to start making their own badges.

Why not design a badge for yourself?

Badges are a good way to put a message across about something we think is important or to express our own identities.

What is important to you? What will you put on your badge?

There's a template on the next page for you to use.

You can put anything you like on your badge, and you can do more than one!

Send us a photo when you've finished ! We'd love to see your design.
